

Livestock Production in the Rangelands

Hay, 5 May 2021

All are welcome to attend an interactive free workshop on livestock production in the rangelands. This is an opportunity to hear about the latest research and paddock-based experience.

Program and speakers

8.30 am Registration, tea and coffee available

Welcome

9.00 am Dr Trent Perry, School of BioSciences, Melbourne University
Using new technologies to help control the Australian sheep blowfly

9.40 am Laura Broughton, Productive Livestock Systems
Pregnancy Scanning in Extensive Sheep Flocks Project Overview

10.00 am Morning tea

10.30 am Dr Sue Hatcher, Program Coordinator
Sheep Reproduction Strategic Partnership Project Overview

11.00 am Mitch Plumbe, Project Manager - Adoption (Southern and Western Production Systems), Meat & Livestock Australia (MLA)
Research, Development and Adoption Update

11.40 am Bill Ryan, landholder, Curragh, Oxley

12.10 pm Stacey Lugsdin, landholder, WoolProducers Director, Birriwa, Hay

12.30 pm Geoff Lindon, Program Manager for Genetics and Animal Welfare Advocacy, Australian Wool Innovation

1.00 pm Question time

1.15 pm Lunch

Lunch supplied. During lunch there will be an opportunity to interact with the speakers and visiting final year students from the University of Sydney and Charles Sturt University.

When and where

Wednesday 5th May, 2021. 8.30 am - 2.00 pm. Services Club, Hay. Please enter via the Function Room door at the side of the Club.

Registration

RSVP by Friday 30 April to assist with catering Sally Ware (Riverina LLS Hay):
sally.ware@lls.nsw.gov.au or 0429 307 627.

COVID-19 Restrictions

All COVID-19 guidelines will be adhered to including recording of contact details of attendees, social distancing and if you are unwell please do not attend.

For further information:

Sally Ware - Riverina LLS
sally.ware@lls.nsw.gov.au
0429 307 627

@LLSRiverina

www.lls.nsw.gov.au/riverina

Local Land
Services

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY

